OUR 2020-24 STRATEGY FOR CRICKET
Cricket is a game that unites communities and improves lives. It has been inspiring generations for hundreds of years. Whether through the drama of a Test Match, a tight finish at a local club, or a game on the beach or in the park, cricket has been evolving all the time as the world has evolved around us.

In England and Wales our game has never been in a better position: we have 2.5 million players, 10.5 million followers and over one million people attending cricket annually. Our Women’s team are World Champions and our Men’s ODI team are ranked number one in the world. Our Test Match audiences are the envy of the cricketing world.

We have firm foundations upon which to grow; a strong county network covering England and Wales, new broadcast partnerships delivering greater reach and revenue, and commercial partners who share our vision of the power of cricket. In short, we have an unprecedented opportunity to support the core, grow the game and make sure that cricket remains relevant for generations to come.

This plan has been built in partnership with the whole game and the whole game will ensure its success. It is a plan that will be delivered by County Cricket Clubs and Boards. It balances the need for the sport to continue to serve its loyal fans with extending cricket’s appeal – particularly to younger audiences and women and girls. It will see more invested in our sport than ever before, with initial investments of at least £½ billion going into the county and recreational game.

The competition for cricket has never been greater as the global battle to capture our attention intensifies. The world is changing around us; by 2030 it is forecast that 88% of us will live in towns and cities, technology and connectivity is transforming our choices for how we spend our leisure time, and attention spans are shortening. Modern society expects diversity and inclusivity, not as a ‘nice-to-have’ but as a pre-condition of any business. We cannot not duck the realities of the challenges we face or the opportunities we have.

This five-year plan for 2020-24 sets six clear priorities for how we tackle those challenges and outlines a range of key activities. It is also a plan that can adapt and flex to the fast pace of change. And crucially, it respects and protects the traditions of the game that we all value, whilst setting out how we can attract the next generation of fans who are the future of the sport. It will give the whole game a bright future.

All of this will be delivered in partnership with the game, united behind a clear purpose: to connect communities and to inspire current and future generations through cricket.
Cricket in England and Wales has seen strong growth since the launch of the strategic framework for the game – ‘Cricket Unleashed’ – in 2015.

At the heart of this strategy is a single unifying purpose, which gets to the core of what the game can do for society both on and off the field. This is coupled with an ambition for what success looks like by the end of this strategic period to ensure that our game is in an even stronger position than it is today.

OUR 2024 AMBITION:
A GENERATION INSPIRED TO SAY THAT ‘CRICKET IS A GAME FOR ME’

Our single biggest challenge during this period is to inspire a new generation to believe that ‘cricket is a game for me’. We want to encourage more young people to form a lifelong relationship with cricket from an early age, to be passionate about the game throughout their lives, and to pass this passion on for generations to come.

Beyond just a new generation, we want people and communities to be united by the feeling that cricket is a game for them. This transcends simply participating, volunteering, following or attending, and gets to the heart of how people perceive cricket – as a game that has something to offer everyone.

We will deliver on cricket’s purpose and ambition through six priorities:

GROW AND NURTURE THE CORE
Ensure that there is a thriving county network at the heart of the domestic game

INSPIRE THROUGH ELITE TEAMS
Create and celebrate the heroes at the pinnacle of the elite game

MAKE CRICKET ACCESSIBLE
Give more people the opportunity to engage with cricket more often

ENGAGE CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE
Inspire a new generation of players and fans to develop a love for cricket

TRANSFORM WOMEN’S AND GIRLS’ CRICKET
Drive cricket’s progress to becoming a truly gender-neutral sport

SUPPORT OUR COMMUNITIES
Use our purpose to connect communities and improve lives more broadly across society

Underpinning the six priorities will be measures taken to secure the long-term sustainability of the game. The global and domestic sports market is dynamic and ever-changing, so we must ensure that cricket in England and Wales has strong structures and robust finances both now and in the future.

OUR PURPOSE:
WE CONNECT COMMUNITIES AND IMPROVE LIVES BY INSPIRING PEOPLE TO DISCOVER AND SHARE THEIR PASSION FOR CRICKET

Cricket is a special game. Fast and slow. Long and short. An art and a science. A test of body and mind. A team game, where individuals perform. It is a simple game, with layers of complexity.

And whilst it is just a game, it is also so much more than that.

It has respect, resilience and leadership at its heart, allowing the game to transcend age, gender, race and ability. It connects communities and improves lives by bringing people together, and binds them through a shared passion for cricket. It delivers profound mental, physical and cultural benefits and can help to positively shape the individuals, communities and societies involved.

It allows everyone to discover their own unique passion for the game – the moments and memories that are passed on for generations.

It is these qualities that we want to harness. We will ensure cricket’s purpose is at the heart of all of our decision-making so that the game itself can thrive, whilst also driving positive social change.

Girls and boys, women and men, young and old, in the inner cities and beyond the suburbs; cricket is a game that belongs to us all. We will work as one game to take cricket forward, unified by this belief.

OUR STRATEGY TO INSPIRE GENERATIONS
Cricket has been played in England and Wales for over five centuries. The passion for the game across the length and breadth of the land has ensured that it is a distinct and valued part of our cultural heritage. But what does cricket in England and Wales look like today?

Now is the Time to Build on Cricket’s Strong Foundations

Colin Graves, ECB Chairman

We have put in place the strong foundations needed to grow cricket in England and Wales. Today, we are internationally respected by the other national cricket boards for the progress we have made in increasing our reach and revenue through our new broadcast partnerships, for nurturing a strong domestic game and for our international on-field success. This success will ensure that we continue to have a significant role to play in shaping the future of the global game, working closely with the International Cricket Council (ICC) and other national cricket boards. All of this gives us the strong platform we need to deliver this new strategy.

ICC Women’s World Cup winners in 2017

- Men’s Ashes victory in 2015 and #1 ranked ODI team
- World Record white-ball scores: Men: 481/6 – 50 Over (June 2018), Women: 250/3 – IT20 (June 2018)
- Strong growth in participation for 5-8 year olds through All Stars Cricket
- Launch of South Asian Action Plan in May 2018
- 500 million+ video views on ECB digital channels
- Year-on-year growth in the number of women playing cricket
- Over four million children have come through Chance to Shine since 2005
- New strategic partnerships with Sky and BBC

- 50 Average age (vs 34 globally)
- 115% Growth in T20 Blast attendance since 2012
In designing this strategy for the whole game in England and Wales, we embarked on extensive research across four areas that directly impact cricket:

- Societal trends including changes in our communities, new technologies and shifting consumer habits
- Global sporting trends that characterise the role sport plays in our world
- Global and domestic cricket trends that illustrate the way our game is changing
- Conversation and debate with people in the game across England and Wales, from County Chairmen and CEOs, to the volunteers who make cricket happen

Through this extensive research, six key opportunities emerged for cricket’s priorities. If we can take advantage of these opportunities by meeting the biggest challenges we face during the course of this strategy, then we will deliver on our ambition to inspire a generation to say ‘cricket is a game for me’.

We connect communities and improve lives by inspiring people to discover and share their passion for cricket

OUR 2024 AMBITION

A generation inspired to say that ‘CRICKET IS A GAME FOR ME’

2020-24 PRIORITIES AND ACTIVITIES

GROW AND NURTURE THE CORE

- Create an Infrastructure Investment Fund for FCCs
- Introduce a new Community Investment Fund for FCCs and CCBs
- Invest in club facilities
- Develop the role of National Counties Cricket (formerly Minor Counties)
- Further invest in county competitions
- Drive governance reform across the whole game

INSPIRE THROUGH ELITE TEAMS

- Increase investment in the county talent pathway
- Incentivise the counties to develop England players
- Drive the performance system through technology and innovation
- Create heroes and connect them with a new generation of fans

MAKE CRICKET ACCESSIBLE

- Broaden cricket’s appeal through the The Hundred
- Create a new digital community for cricket
- Install non-traditional playing facilities in urban areas
- Continue to deliver the South Asian Action Plan
- Launch a new participation product, linked to the The Hundred

ENGAGE CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE

- Double cricket participation in primary schools
- Deliver a compelling and coordinated recreational playing offer from age five upwards
- Develop our safeguarding to promote safe spaces for children and young people
- Grow the base through participation and facilities investment
- Launch centres of excellence and a new elite domestic structure
- Invest in girls’ county age group cricket
- Deliver a girls’ secondary school programme
- Double the number of volunteers in the game
- Create a game-wide approach to Trusts and Foundations through the cricket network
- Develop a new wave of officials and community coaches
- Increase participation in disability cricket

TRANSFORM WOMEN’S AND GIRLS’ CRICKET

- Double the number of volunteers in the game
- Create a game-wide approach to Trusts and Foundations through the cricket network
- Develop a new wave of officials and community coaches

INTRODUCE A GAME-WIDE LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

- Double the number of volunteers in the game
- Create a game-wide approach to Trusts and Foundations through the cricket network
- Develop a new wave of officials and community coaches
- Increase participation in disability cricket
Cricket in Yorkshire is an awful lot stronger as a result of the collaborative approach that we now have.

Mark Arthur
Chief Executive Officer, Yorkshire CCC

Back in 2013 Yorkshire CCC Chief Executive, Mark Arthur, realised that the different cricketing organisations within Yorkshire, while all having a positive impact, were operating in silos without the joined-up thinking needed to help cricket in the county thrive. The Club, Board and Foundation were brought together to ensure that people who play, watch and love the game of cricket across Yorkshire have a one-stop-shop for all their needs. The merger has connected all areas of the game within the county and created clear roles, better results and greater diversity.
The academy at Essex was the first time where I understood the values, commitment, dedication and sacrifice it took to build a career in professional cricket.

Ben Foakes
Surrey and England

Ben exemplifies the talent and dedication needed to get to the top of the game. He started playing cricket aged six for the colts at Frinton-on-Sea before graduating through the Essex academy system. This academy experience supported Ben’s development alongside his international opportunities with England at Under 19 and Lions levels, as well as an overseas placement.

In 2018 he helped Surrey to their first County Championship in 16 years, before scoring a century in his first Test match for England, making him only the second English wicket-keeper to do so on his Test debut.

Grassroots and the elite game go hand-in-hand; every county and England player begins their journey on a local pitch. In turn, as the highest profile ambassadors for the sport, elite teams and players have a unique platform to set the standard that engages and inspires both on and off the field. On the field, we will invest in the talent development systems that drive high performance and produce winning performances across county and England teams. Off the field, the next generation of players will be inspired by the heroes of today. We will do more to connect young people to the stars across Men’s, Women’s and Disability cricket who perform and triumph on cricket’s biggest domestic and international stages.

We will create and celebrate the heroes at the pinnacle of the elite game

- 12 months the time that England Men have spent as the number one ranked Test team since 1980 (vs 170 months for Australia)
- 100% of currently centrally contracted England Men’s players came through county academies
- 70% England home win record since 2008
- 44% England away win record since 2008
- Individual sporting superstars often have a larger social following than the team they play for

We will:

- Increase investment in the county talent pathway
- Incentivise the counties to develop England players
- Drive the performance system through technology and innovation
- Create heroes and connect them with a new generation of fans

This means:

- The performance system will be a consistently high standard across the domestic game, giving more players the opportunity to develop their talent
- Counties will be rewarded for fielding more England-qualified players in domestic professional competitions
- Performance will be lifted through new technologies which enhance player development and improve selection decision-making
- Heroes will be given the best platform to develop their talent, and a new generation of fans will be inspired by the performances of these heroes on and off the field
Cricket is more relevant than ever in today’s society. We need to make sure it’s accessible, sustainable and supporting hard-to-reach communities.

Arfan Akram
Director, East London Cricket Limited

Born and raised in East London, Arfan knows all about the importance of providing cricketing facilities in urban areas. He has worked with Essex Cricket in the local community to install non-traditional playing facilities across East London that have benefitted thousands of recreational players. Arfan is the development lead on the first pilot urban cricket centre in Leyton, a purpose-built site that will create an indoor cricket hub at the heart of the local community.

We will give more people the opportunity to engage with cricket more often

Cricket is a sport with a significant presence in England and Wales, with over 10m followers and 2.5m players, and the game is fortunate to have a loyal fanbase who watch all forms of cricket. These fans tend to be older than the global average, and are more likely to be an affluent white male than they are to represent any other demographic group. We want to broaden this loyal base to make cricket more representative of our modern and diverse society. We want to encourage a broader cross-section of our population to discover and share their passion for cricket by making playing and following the game more accessible, so that more people are inspired to say that ‘cricket is a game for me’.

We will:

- Broaden cricket’s appeal through the New Competition
- Create a new digital community for cricket
- Install non-traditional playing facilities in urban areas
- Continue to deliver the South Asian Action Plan
- Launch a new participation product, linked to The Hundred

This means:

- The Hundred, with games broadcast on Sky and the BBC, will create a new gateway into cricket (see pages 28-31 for more detail)
- Building a new digital community will optimise the online cricket experience for players and fans, and bring it together in one place
- The installation of non-turf pitches and urban cricket centres will give more people living in urban areas the opportunity to play cricket
- An ongoing commitment to the plan launched in 2018 (see ECB South Asian Action Plan document for full details)
- More people will be given the opportunity to play cricket through a new participation product that will provide a gateway to becoming a regular cricketer

By 2030 it is projected that 88% of us will live in towns and cities. Currently just 10% of cricket clubs are located in high population density areas.

3% of Test match tickets sold are junior tickets (average attendee age = 47)

Digital Connections
80% of 12-15 year olds own a smartphone, and over 55s are the fastest adopters of smartphones

30% of cricket’s recreational player base is South Asian

4% of professional cricketers are South Asian
We will inspire a new generation of players and fans to develop a love for cricket

Inspiring a new generation of children and young people to say ‘cricket is a game for me’ is fundamental to the future health of our game, and giving this new generation the opportunity to play the game is critical in inspiring them to discover and share their passion for cricket. We will continue to build on the foundations of All Stars Cricket and participation in schools to enable more young people to pick up a bat and ball for the first time. Together the game will deliver a clear, sustainable and safe pathway to make sure young people can continue to play cricket into their adolescent years and beyond.

A detailed plan for cricket’s approach to participation in schools will be released in 2019.

Cricket is the 8th most played team sport in school

4 million played through Chance to Shine since 2005, 14% of whom go on to join a local club

‘Playing cricket at school’ is the most frequent cause for children having an interest in the game

We will:

- Double cricket participation in primary schools
- Deliver a compelling and coordinated recreational playing offer from age five upwards
- Develop our safeguarding to promote safe spaces for children and young people

This means:

- More children will play more cricket in primary schools more often through cricket’s overall schools strategy. This will cover primary and secondary schools in the state and independent sectors, building on our strong ongoing relationship with Chance to Shine and working with County Cricket Boards, to ensure the success of this investment.
- More young people will play recreational cricket, as the game will provide the right formats at the right age and in the right environment, from first contact in schools and clubs through to adult cricket. This will include a greater focus on transitioning children from primary school to club cricket.
- As more children engage with the game, appropriate support will be provided to keep children and young people safe in cricketing environments.
TRANSFORM WOMEN’S AND GIRLS’ CRICKET

We will drive cricket’s progress to becoming a truly gender-neutral sport

Women and girls represent the biggest growth opportunity for cricket. Our vision is to make cricket a game that is truly gender-neutral, with women and girls being properly represented across the whole game. This means investing in the development of every level of the game — from girls experiencing cricket for the first time to heroes at the pinnacle of the elite game, alongside supporting female coaches, officials and administrators. We are fully committed to this long-term vision, and this strategy represents the next steps to achieving it.

We will invest at least £20m into transforming women’s and girls’ cricket by the end of 2021, with an ambition to invest £50m during this strategic period. A detailed action plan for transforming women’s and girls’ cricket will be launched in 2019.

We will:

- Grow the base through participation and facilities investment
- Launch centres of excellence and a new elite domestic structure
- Invest in girls’ county age group cricket
- Deliver a girls’ secondary school programme

This means:

- Focusing investment on improving club facilities and creating welcoming environments in clubs will encourage recreational play amongst women and girls
- There will be a greater focus on developing talented female cricketers within centres of excellence across the country, playing both T20 and 50-over formats
- More talented girls will have the opportunity to develop into elite cricketers
- Girls in secondary school will be given more opportunity to play cricket in school beyond primary age

Lisa Pagett
Women & Girls Development Officer,
Gloucestershire Cricket Board

Thanks to the immense hard work and dedication over the last decade by Lisa Pagett of Gloucestershire Cricket Board, the south west of England has become one of the hotbeds of women’s and girls’ cricket, with growth in all areas of the game. As well as being the General Manager of Western Storm — who won the Kia Super League in 2017 — Lisa is a Level Four coach and her involvement with Gloucestershire extends from the senior county team through to the grassroots.
Our family-oriented club wouldn’t run without volunteers. No-one gets paid for anything, but that’s not what it’s about. We do it for the love of the game and to ensure that we are there for the community.

Amy Carnwell
Volunteer and Community Coach
Oakamoor CC, Staffordshire

Amy was named Young Volunteer of the Year at the 2018 NatWest Outstanding Service to Cricket Awards (OSCAs). She follows in the footsteps of her parents who are also volunteers at an inclusive village club that is at the heart of its community. Epitomising how volunteers carry out a number of roles, Amy is committee member and, as a qualified ECB Level Two coach, she coordinates a thriving junior cricket section at the club whilst also managing the women’s and girls’ softball sessions.

We will use our purpose to connect communities and improve lives more broadly across society

Cricket has a unique ability to connect communities and improve lives. It is a sport that transcends generations and has the ability to reach beyond social boundaries in a way that few other sports can.

In a world where what organisations stand for matters more than ever, we want to use our purpose to support the communities that cricket serves; this means the game playing a central role in supporting the people who volunteer, play and coach across cricket and the wider community to realise their full potential. By bringing our purpose to life, we will create a positive impact across our modern and diverse society, and the game itself will thrive.

As part of making a positive difference to our society, we will work with organisations that support causes that cricket can have the greatest impact on.

We will:

Double the number of volunteers in the game

Create a game-wide approach to Trusts and Foundations through the cricket network

Develop a new wave of officials and community coaches

Increase participation in disability cricket

This means:

A stronger, more diverse volunteering workforce will underpin the delivery of cricket, whilst also developing their own life skills

The creation of a national approach to Trusts and Foundations will maximise cricket’s social impact

More coaches and officials who are part of their community will be trained and developed to deliver and support cricket locally

Greater support will be provided to encourage more people to play recreational disability cricket

59% of clubs highlight the recruitment of volunteers as a major issue

72% increase in disability cricket participation since 2015

73% claim a lack of volunteers is a barrier for growing women’s cricket

INSPIRING GENERATIONS

THE HUNDRED AND HOW IT ALL FITS TOGETHER
The Hundred will be targeted most prominently at a diverse family audience, giving children and young people the opportunity to experience cricket with their families, many of whom will already be fans of the sport.

The competition will be a new and exciting domestic tournament to be launched in 2020, aimed at broadening cricket’s appeal. It is proposed to be played in a 100-ball format for both men’s and women’s competitions. It will feature many of the best players in the world, representing eight city-based teams over a five-week period, and will show the game at its intense, incredible best.

The whole competition will be on Sky, and there will be a minimum of 11 live games on the BBC, including the men’s and women’s finals. This takes live cricket back to free-to-air TV for the first time in 15 years. The greater reach this will generate for cricket will inspire participation.

The Hundred is of central importance to inspiring a new generation to say that ‘cricket is a game for me’, and is the result of extensive research across current and potential cricket fans.
The Hundred will sit alongside cricket's other professional formats, as the game seeks to balance serving its core players and fans, and growing to new audiences.

All of our professional formats serve an important purpose in inspiring generations to say that ‘cricket is a game for me’. Whether it’s the ebbs and flows that characterise enthralling days of Test and County Championship cricket, or the hard-hitting fireworks of the white ball game, professional cricket has something for everyone.
INITIAL FINANCIAL COMMITMENTS AND MEASURING SUCCESS
MEASURING SUCCESS

INITIAL FINANCIAL COMMITMENTS UNDER THIS STRATEGY

This is a national strategy that will be delivered at a local level. It will balance the delivery of activities across all our priorities to serve our current audiences and support our growth ambitions for the game. We will do this together through a decentralised approach, underpinned by a renewed understanding with the cricket network, formalised through the County Partnership Agreement.

The financial commitments we are making as part of this strategy reiterate the county network’s role as the primary delivery partner for cricket, and put the sustainability of the network as its first priority.

The initial strategic investments that we are committing to are:

£450m of direct funding to the network guaranteed for the full five-year period

- £380m directly to the cricket network:
  - £325m to FCCs
  - £55m to CCBs

- £70m in investment funding, comprised of:
  - A £50m Infrastructure Investment Fund for FCCs
  - A new £20m Community Investment Fund for FCCs and CCBs

This commitment represents a 60% increase on current direct funding levels

And

£67m in strategic investments in the network for the first two years of the strategy

This investment covers 22 of the 26 activities in the strategy, including investing in club and non-traditional playing facilities, increasing participation in primary schools, and transforming women’s and girls’ cricket.

And

£255m of committed investments into centrally administered strategic activity to futureproof the game

This investment covers investing in The Hundred, digital, and building central reserves for the game.

To ensure financial prudence, adaptability and flexibility in a fast-changing world, future investments will be approved by the ECB Board on an ongoing basis.

In order to track our progress, there are four Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) that we will measure, which will be baselined throughout 2019.

These are:

1. Number of people in England and Wales who believe ‘CRICKET IS A GAME FOR ME’
   The number of people playing, volunteering, attending, watching or following cricket

2. Perception of cricket
   The percentage of people who have a positive perception of cricket

3. Young people engaging with cricket
   The total number of people under the age of 16 engaging with cricket

4. Women and girls engaging with cricket
   The total number of women and girls engaging with cricket
